CITY IN BRIEF.

In the Federal Court yesterday T. C. Garner was given four months in jail, and Arthur L. Blue was given a new trial.Frank Hackett, one of the vagrants who escaped from the new addition to the jail quite recently, was captured yesterday by Patrolman State.Edward Bond, who was taken to the Insane Hospital some three weeks ago, died yesterday. He had been a car inspector at the Bee Line Shops for many years.William Craft, a well-known young man, son of Captain Harry Craft, died at the residence of his brother on Park avenue yesterday. He has been in bad health for the past year.William Pratt, arrested on a charge of embezzling $80 from the firm of Cleveland & Adams, has been released on his own recognizance and it is understood that the loss has been made good.Thomas Shen, an employee of the Pan-Handle Shops, residing at 108 Meek street, had his left foot crushed yesterday by the falling of a rail. He was taken home in Flanner & Hommon's ambulance.The book in which Lee Henshaw kept his accounts with the night printers, an account of the loss of which by a dog was given in yesterday's Sentinel, was found yesterday morning about 10 o'clock in the Circle. The dog has been discharged without recommendation, and it is predicted by his friends that unless he reforms soon he is destined to become a vagrant and a charge on the town.Suspended for Thirty Days.
The Police Commissioners met last night in special session and suspended Merchant Policeman Thos. Kingsbury for thirty days.Charges were preferred against Kingsbury by Sam Dennis, who claims that on March 4 the officer stood in front of his saloon on East Washington street and watched two parties slug each other without attempting to interfere or make an arrest. One of the windows in Dennis's place was broken during the melee.

AMUSEMENTS.

ROBSON & CRANE AT THE GRAND.

A large, fashionable and delighted audience greeted the return of those popular comedians, Robson & Crane, at the Grand Opera House last night. They came forward in the familiar, but always funny and enjoyable comedy, "Sharks and Flats." The performance went with a roar from the first, every part being excellently played. As we have before remarked, the comedians are especially fitted by nature for the leading roles, and the imitable humor and drollery with which their every word and action abounds puts them at once in rapport with their audience. As "Cutter Sharp," the man of nerve, stock exchange broker, etc., Mr. Robson is simply imitable. His every word, look and action is as original as it is comical, while there is a thoroughness of method and conscientious treatment in all that he does that bespeaks the artist.
His partner, Mr. Crane, as "Dollstone Flat," ex-parson, bull, bear and blood, although the opposite in methods, is none the less an artist. He is, perhaps, the best low-comedian on the American stage to day, his humor being of the unctious kind that keeps an audience in the throes of laughter all the time he holds the stage. Their supporting company is a thoroughly competent one.
Mr. Charles S. Dickson as "Captain Zerkow" invested the role with a manly dignity and grace, and spoke his lines naturally, neither overacting nor playing with too much reserve, as have some of his predecessors. Mr. W. G. Beach was satirized as "Rev. Percy Gosling," though he beshowed a slight tendency at times to read his lines in a declamatory manner that might be advantageously overcome. Mr.
Ogden's "John Penberion" was well done, as were also all the minor male parts. Miss Sadie Bigelow looked and acted the part of "Marion" very cleverly, while Miss Flora May Henry, in the dashing and, therefore, somewhat difficult role of "Mrs. Lydia Loudens," added to an attractive stage presence a pleasing personality and artistic thoroughness that was as charming as it was natural. This young lady is rapidly climbing the histrionic ladder, and her many friends here will watch her career with unabated interest. Miss Margaret Pierce made a pleasing "Nellie," while Mrs. Georgia Dickson was a typical "Mrs.
Flat." To-night the comedians will be seen in their funniest comedy, "The Cherrubs," in which they personate the twin brothers, "Thidias" and "Vankies." The performance will be preceded by the charming one-act comedietta, "Uncle's Will." Saturday matinee, "Our Bachelors," and Saturday night, "Boarling House." The entire series of performances are for the benefit of the Indianapolis Light Infantry, and should be largely patronized.

NOTES.

Good business rules at the 7/30, where the Leonzo Bros. are appearing in "Dog Spy."The Hollivood Juvenile Opera Company will be at English's Opera House all next week, playing at cheap prices.The Dime Museum was again largely patronized yesterday afternoon and last night.
To-morrow will be "children's day."Mr. Harry Clapham, Jr., representing that popular organization, Barlow & Wilson's Minstrels, is in the city. His troupe gives a single performance at the Grand Opera House on Thursday evening of next week, and a packed house is a foregone conclusion.The sale of seats for the Abbott Opera season has been very large, and the engagement promises to be the event of the season.
Monday evening "Traviata" will be given; Tuesday, "Mignon"; Wednesday matinee, "Heart and Hand," and Wednesday evening,
"Semiramide."The charming emotional actress, Rhea, will appear at Dickson's Opera House Friday and Saturday, next week, in two new plays—"The American Countess" and "Arcadia, or a Dangerous Game," both of which have made a genuine success in the Eastern cities. Rhea comes with a new and very powerful company, and will, no doubt, be enthusiastically received by our best people. Her manager, Mr. James W. Morrisey, and his assistant, Mr. Ed. Stone, are now in the city.

sued to the inventors of Indiana for the week

An Insane Man at Large.

A colored man by the name of John Day, sent to the Insane Hospital some time ago from Jefferson County, was pronounced incurable a couple of weeks since, and an order from Madison arrived in the city yesterday to take him home. When they arrived at the Union Depot the officer left day standing in the waiting room while he went out to purchase tickets. When he returned Day was gone. The police were notified, but at last accounts the man was still at large.

lawful detention.New trial has been refused by Judge Har-n in the suit of Nettie Young vs. The Continental Life Insurance Company, and judgment given the plaintiff for $1072.Louisa Girtan has been given judgment against Charles Girtan for $148, a new trial having been refused by Judge Howe. This the colored woman charged with the theft of tabs from a party on Massachusetts avenue.The trial of May M. Eaton vs. The C. H. and I. Road, for $1,000 damages, was put on trial before a jury in Room 1 yesterday.Plaintiff sues to recover damages for being put off a train some two or three years ago.

The case has been on the docket for a long time.The Auditor desires to call the attention of all persons having deeds to real estate to the necessity of having the deeds recorded

March 31.Mary S. Denker asks for a divorce from Christian Denker. They were married in August, 1883. She charges defendant with cruelly treating her, threatening to cut her throat and kill her. On the 3d of January last he assaulted her with a hammer and she was compelled to go to her mother's home for protection. Defendant is a non-resident and was last heard from in Cincinnati.The suit of James H. Pritchard vs. Laura Sprague is on trial before a jury in Room 2. Plaintiff is suing for $400 attorney's fees, for services rendered. He alleges that he acted as attorney in some transactions involving the collection of assigned accounts, judgments, etc., and the title to real estate sold by the Sheriff. This was continued for four years, and the services have never been paid for.In the suit of the State ex rel. vs. the Board of Commissioners of Washington County the Supreme Court yesterday ruled that where the State becomes suitor it is as much bound by the laws of the land, by the rules of pleading and by decisions and judgments of courts, inferior or superior, as any other suitor. In this case the result is that the Attorney General must pay the costs, of course, having recourse against the State for reimbursement.John Eusey yesterday filed suit for divorce from Mary Elizabeth Eusey. They were married in November, 1878. John charges that his wife has neglected her household duties, and has gone away from home, leaving her small child. The children are to share all that they need special care, and on one occasion when she left them they set fire to the house and came near burning it down. He also charged her with adultery with Louis Schaffner, who was arrested at plaintiff's instance last Saturday night on a charge of resistance. Plaintiff asks for the custody of the children. He is an engineer, by trade, and lives at 45 Brookside avenue.The intervening petition of Julia Duffey, in the Harrison's Bank receivership, was heard yesterday by Judge Walker and taken under advisement. Plaintiff's petition showed that she had loaned $4,000 to the Harrison's, to be invested for her in real estate. This was done, and several arrangements were made in after years, resulting in transfers of the property because of unproductiveness. A final arrangement was made, and pending the investment of the money the bank went into the hands of a receiver. Plaintiff seeks to recover her money with interest claiming it was not a part of the bank's funds. She is a soldier's widow, drawing a pension, and a living somewhere in one of the Western States.Thomas W. Ballitt, of Louisville, Ky., has begun suit in the Federal Court for the Southwestern Contract and Construction Company against the city of New Albany for an injunction against the municipal officers of the city to keep them from interfering with the delivery of bonds amounting to $250,000 to the plaintiff, to whom they had been assigned by the company, which is building the bridge across the Ohio between Louisville and New Albany. The latter city guaranteed the payment of the bonds in 1881, and they were placed in the hands of John A. Butler and W. C. DePauw, who were to turn them over as the work progressed. A few weeks ago the Common Council, by resolution, directed the trustees not to turn over the bonds, thus indicating that payment will be contested on the grounds of alleged irregularity in making the guarantee, and the present proceedings are to prevent any interference of this kind.
Speaker Jewett represents the city of New Albany, and will probably demur to the complaint, alleging want of jurisdiction.Local Courts.
